

Ask the Realtor – Selling your home? Keep it safe and protect your property

Selling your home can be a stressful time. You must keep your home in pristine condition, be ready to exit at any time and hope that nothing happens while strangers are in your home. Relieve some of the stress by following these guidelines.

Clean out your medicine cabinet. Get rid of any old medications. For your current medications, lock them up, or take them with you. You may want to purchase a strong box to put these into.

Secure your valuables: jewelry, cash, credit cards, collectables, ipads/tablets. Anything that may find their way onto sticky fingers.

Get a file cabinet with a lock. Make sure your bank statements, bills, invoices are locked up. You don't want to leave personal and financial information in full view.

Do you have keys hanging in the hallway or kitchen? Take them down and put them away. You've just given a potential thief guaranteed entrance if you leave them for the taking.

Do you have guns or firearms in your home? Put them under lock and key. Or better yet, move them to a temporary home while yours is on the market.

One last note, take down your calendar with your schedule- you're letting people know when you will not be home. Be Pro-Active! Be Safe!

If you are considering buying or selling, let's work together and make it a realty reality.
